European Junior Water Programme

Preparing the next generation to tackle Europe's water management challenges

The European Junior Water Programme aims to build a community of talented water management professionals who share a deep commitment to addressing today's and future water and climate change issues with a focus on Europe. It is designed to provide you with the tools, skills and appropriate networks to find new solutions and share knowledge for the purpose of creating and maintaining a sustainable and safe water management system for people and nature in Europe.

Boost your career!

The European Junior Water Programme is a two-year part-time programme to prepare junior professionals for leadership in European water management. Join the programme to learn about transcultural communication and cooperation, and to develop your knowledge on European Water policies, Water Footprint and create a unique network within the European context. EJWP is a unique opportunity to boost your career in European water management.

Invest in your junior professionals!

The European Junior Water Programme offers employers within the water management sector an opportunity to empower their junior professionals to bring a wealth of knowledge, skills, and networking power to their organization. It is an excellent way to create a network with other European water management organizations and strengthen your employer brand. Moreover, it provides you the opportunity to have a team of EJWP participants work on an integrated and tailor-made solution for a specific challenge your company faces. Innovation was never more ready at hand!

Water is life

Water recognizes no boundaries, and neither does climate change. We need to adopt co-operation and co-creation attitude at a European level if we want our future to be sustainable. Our water to be clean, safe and available in abundance; and our cities and communities to be future-proof and climate change resilient.
